GEN. PARKEN'S BEARGARMERS. No. 38.

The long train of pontoons has arrived, just we day abelied time. If what leading denie reals tell me is true, and I doubt them not, the mistake of this campaign, thus far, has been in not having the pontoon train on the ground hast week Tuesday, the day Gen. Summer's advance reached Falmouth. It could then have been thrown over the river at the most feasible point, and emountered the first of but a section of robel artilizery. Now the chot and shell of a hundred guns will, perhaps, blaze away upon it as it is being thrown can be away upon it as it is being thrown Gen. Burnside. He was promised it should be here spon the arrival of Gen. Burnside. He was promised it should be here spon the arrival of Gen. Burnside. After the pontoon train, came the magnificant reserve artillery, composed of sixty pieces of the heaviest field calibar, which we heard so much about on the Pemboush, but which did so little execution. It has been well asset of the heaviest field calibar, which we heard so much about on the Pemboush, but which did so little execution. It has never won any better title. But the fact that as I was ricking my horse to the rear of the sarmy this attenuous, those ten batteries were going to the front, apparently in support of the pontoon train, is sufficient to satisfy me that in the next engagement Gen. Burnside is determined that it shall play the part of reserve to fighting the host of Apolyon here insiend that it shall play the part of reserve no fighting the host of Apolyon here insiend of his way to Richmond. With ample quarters for the sick and wounded in the town itself, (when we get it,) we shall be in close and constant connection with our base of supplies both by road, railroed and river.

The star of Gen. Burnside has always been lucky, and who can say that the mischance under which he begins has always been lucky, and who can say that t

The railroad from Grand Junction will be completed in a day or two. Trains have already passed over a part of the road. The rebels, as they fall back towards Grenads, tear up the track and carry away many of the rails and destroy bridges and culverts. This will have to be repaired as fast as the army advances.

The railroad from Grand Junction will not be replared as fast as the army advances.

The releas are reported to be falling back from Tallshutchle and Grenads, and it is even said on good authority that they are moving their heavier valuables from Jackson.

Many changes have taken place in our millitary government since the departure of Gen. Sherman. The quartermaster of the post, Henry S. Fitch, has been relieved and assigned Calef Quartermastership in Gen. Sharman's descriptions.

Henry S. Fitch, has been relieved and assigned Culef Quartermastership in Gen. Sherman's division, with rank as Lieutenant Colonel. He is well qualified by education and experience for the position. Capt. Eddy succeeds Capt. Fitch as Quartermaster of the post at Memphis, an old army officer of tried ability, Major Nume, succeeds to the paymastership, Major Tyrrell having been assigned an important charge in the field.

One of the last sets of Gen. Sherman, upon leaving for the field, was to pass an order coadomning the proposed issue of shinphaster currency by the city. He believed the set unconstitutional, and thought postal currency would noon be circulating plentifully. If they must have circulating plentifully. If they must have circulating medium, he recommended that dollar packages of cotton now worth fifty cents a pound, be made up and used as such medium. He said "if cotton be not a king, it has the gunules stamp and makes money—is money; therefore, use it instead of small bits of paper."

It will literally be enormous if the act is rigidly enforced. Then, as it is not the object of the legislators to pay the current expenses of the war, a reduction of rates and the enlargement of the list of articles exempted, follow as a matter of course. It is evident, also, that the number of articles upon which a tax is laid is excessive; and that the principle which determined the making of the list so comprehensive is, whatever it may be in theory, false in practice, and that at least a thousand things named or indicated must be released from impost. It is evident also that in some cases the rake per cent, is too high, and that in others it may be considerably increased without detriment to the public weal. CONFISCATION.

The proclamation, or order, of the President to avail himself of the latest official intelligence.

The proclamation, or order, of the President of the United States recently issued, directing the Attorney General to proceed with the execution of the fifth, sixth and seventh sections of the confiscation act, and ordering all officers in the military service, when called upon, to render assistance to the civil authorities in that behalf, is most opportune. While loyal citizens are being taxed in every department of business to carry on the war against armed robels, millions of dollars worth of rebels property, forfeited by law to the public treasury, lies within our grasp untouched. There is not a State, and hardly a city in the North, which does not contain property, real or personal, belonging to those who are eliker in arms against the Government, or are rendering aid and comfort to the rebellion by all means in their power. Hitherto nothing has been done to secure to the treasury the large revenues derivable from the courte, for the reason that there have been no specific instructions issued from Washington for carrying the law into effect—the law tiacif presenting no inducements to marshals, district altorneys, or private individuals, to investigate and report the existence of such rebal property. Meanwhile, the sequestration act of the robel government has had its full scope, sweeping hat of the property of loyal citizens which could be discovered. Every necessary overy dollar of the property of loyal citizens which could be discovered. Every necessary every dollar of the property of loyal citizens which could be discovered. Every necessary presents the South has teemed with advertisements of sequestered property for a very development.

We tell the findependant, gratuitously, what it will by and by learn at great cost, that the "business" which it would supply with new promises-to-pay, whether made by the Government or by the banks, is speculation, the era of which is so marked that nobody can mistake it; and that the remedy is not in stimulants which created the disease, but in depletion which will withdraw from the circulation the excess of paper that the necessities of the government have injected into it. And we tell it, further, that the danger ahead is not that there will not be currency enough, but that, nolens colens, the government will be obliged to so inflate the volume of paper money affost, that the returns of commercial and financial affairs to their normal condition can be accomplished, only through bankruptcy and ruin.

reason which it sets forth for the advocacy of a policy so false and ruinous, betrays its blank ignorance of the principles upon which all successful experiments in finance must rest. That reason is a want of money for the demands of business. Did the financial editor of the Independent never hear that this "scarcity of money" is the invariable and necessary accompaniment, paradoxial as it may seem, of the unnatural excitement which a piethorn of currency creates; and that, to satisfy the public appetite for money when the rage for speculation is not known wnether the proximity of the financial storm by casting, Chinese inshion, bits of paper to the wind. OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

The Armies of the Bappahamock-Premis Fience and Fainer Prospects—The Premis the Farnace of Afficient Again—The Standart Against Gen. Sign.

[Special Correspondence of the Chicago Tribana.]

Wannawron, Nov. 77, 1801.

The President has gone to Aquin to see the two armies of the East who appear to be making a stand—Gen. Burnaide's on the north side and Gen. Lee's on the south side of the Rappahamock. Our forces have all arrived at side and Gen. Lee's on the south side of the Rappalsamock. Our forces have all arrived at the river; and the rebels are believed to have one corps at least, and probably two corps, on the hills behind Predericksburg, and to be hurrying the rest of their troops to the, same line as rapidly as possible. Their railroad is in running order to Richmond—ours will not be finished before next week. Whether theirs has capacity of transportation for the necessary supplies of so many men as are un-der Gen. Lee's command is not known. Ours, in the opinion of Gen. Hampt, who must have all the information touching the ques-tion in his possession, and who is reputed to be the most energetic and capable railroad man that is or ever has been in the employ of the government, connot possibly railroad man that is or ever has usen in the employ of the government, counct possibly earry more than a day and a half's rations for the army in twenty-four hours—emongle to teed the men, but not enough to form a depot beilde. Supplies can, however, at least after the rational troops have possession of both hanks, be brought in transports to Falmouth and Fredericksburg, and this route has been recommended by Quarlermaster General Males.

WHAT THE PRESIDENT SAID. Robels' Slaves Must be Freed.

Washinstern, Nov. 20, 1882.

Mr. Casey of Kentucky—the only Emandpationist in Congress from that State—had a very interrecting interview with the President a day or two sines. Mr. Casey informed Mr.
Lincoln that while originally he did not like his emancipation proclamation, that now he did not desire him to go back—to retreat from the position he had taken; ithwould be so universally regarded as an evidence of weakness in the government. The President informed him that he need have no fears on that score—he should not take back a word. He had no desire to interfere with the people of loyal States on this subject, and he would not do so; but as for rebels, let them prepare for emancipation!

Mr. Casey shows that he possesses the old-the should not take back a word. He had no dealer to interfere with the people of loyal states on this subject, and he would not do emandpation!

Mr. Carry shows the the possesses the old-fishioned Kentucky maniliness and truth-really alver suited my "lawy he "and order in the proper of the control of the proper of the prope

STARTLING REVELATION

Thursday Nighl, Nov. 27, 19th.)
Since my last, the troubles of the cottonbuyers have increased, and indications are that they will all be sent out of the lines, and the Government bealiewed to reap what profit is to be made out of the highly remunaristive trade in the fleesy Southern King.
An order has been issued from Grant's headquariers that all fruitive.

in of a piece with all the rest of Mr. Seward's policy. That gentleman is as fully in accord with all our Fremier's private plans and politics as is his shadow. Thurlow West or his friends Seymour and Prince John. Were this rot so, Mr. Seward would not have ventured to lay down to him in the Samous letter of the 10th April, the doctrine that States rights are co-equal with the sational authority, nor have unthorised him to say to England, we recognized the fact that the South had the power to successfully resist—that is to say, to snocessfully resist.

Seward's maskery diplomacy. Mr. Adams, therefore, and not to with the continuation of the snocessfully resistance in the close of the snoces hospitable towns, this side of Mason an Dixon's line. They have looked in valu for the seductiv in church, are unmistakable evidences of their attachment to this great social vice. Some of them expectorate like a tobacco-chewing salior, and nauseate the shocked sense that beholds this degradation.

In this part of Tenneszee, the most rabid of the secessionists are men originally from the North, not a new of whom are in the Confederate army, outdoing the rebels in their active prosecution of the rebellion, and carning for themselves the unenviable title of the most traitorons of the traitors. One of these was captured the other day, at Lamar. His name is Cloud. He holds a captain's commission in the Southern service, and was formerly a resident of a small village in Northern Vermont. He went to Mississippi some seven or eight years these, in the expectly of a school-teacher, and soon captivated the affections of a young woman who possessed a very bad education and a number of negroes (by the way, the Yankees seem to be particular favorities with the Southern women), and married her plantation, including her among the incumbrances.

At a very early day he assumed the attitude of a violent and uncompromising Dismulonist, and was one of the first persons in his adopted State to raise a company of cavalry for the war. Since then he has obtained an extended reputation for skill, energy, and daring—has fought two ducels, and led a mumber of gallant charges, loaing in one of then two-thirds of all his men.

The Southerners land him to the skies, and do do not hesitate to pronounce him as brave a fellow as ever drew a saber. It is einquist that Northern men, when they do go Senta, outdo the Southerners in all their own boastfal schlevements—drinking more, boasting fonder, playing higher, and fighting better than the cholesus soms of the peando chivalry of the land of cotton and continuecy.

Jumes H. Laue, of Kansas, as director of the mint at Denver City, a correspondent of the Indianapolis Journal writes as follows:

Why not give Dick Blater, who has been fine-cerated in this city for some weeks for disloyal practices; a layst-class appointment? Dick is a grat-class pro-alway; butternut, built from the pro-alway with the pro-alway of the post to the government the layst have been considered a more assessment of the pro-alway with the pro-alway with the pro-alway with the pro-alway with the pro-always and has always been considered a more sognethic politician and a more honorable man than Lane.

Lane, at the commencement of the var, boldy politician and a more honorable man than Lane.

Lane, at the commencement of the var, boldy will not deay, and to-day undoubtedly favore the Tom Resulticks schemes of cutting looss the Northwestern from the Easters dates, and would join the pro-always the pro Tom headrices scheme of cutting loose the North western from the Rastern States, and would joi their fortunes with the Jeff. This distinguished man whose pure life and noble acts are familiar even at this late day, was a native of Bethsada, even at this late day, was a native of Bethsada, a town in Gallice situated upon the lake of Genesareth. He was the son of Jonas or John, a fisherman of that towa, and brother to Simon Peter. It is evident from the record that he possessed the confidence of his Master and that he accompanied Cheist, assisting him in various ways, when his most remarkable miracles were performed. He at the last laid down his like for the cause he had so faithfully served, having been subjected at Ægea to the martyr's death of crucitizion. In the year 1250 his bones were placed in the Abbey of St. Victor, in Marseilles, where they now remain. It was in his honor that Philip the Good, instituted the Kaights of the Golden Fiece, who for their badge wear what iscalled St. Andrew's cross. This is devised from the instrument of his death, which is the state of his death, which is said to have been in the form of a letter X, there you gens.

For the gressier solemnity of the three principal holidays of the Episcopal and Roman Catholic Churches, to-wit: Christmas, Easter and Whit Sunday, there had been appointed, by the proper Echsiastical authority, certain days to precede and tollow them with appropriate services. The four Sandays before Christmas have the name of Advent from the Latin compound very "Adsensive" to come to. Christmas have the name of Advent from the Latin compound verb "Adventer" to seems to. Yester-day was observed as the "First Sanday in Advent." St. Peter is supposed to have instituted this season, and therefore it is said to stand upon Apostolic anthority. Whether this be true or not it is cartainly of very early origin as Maximus Turineensis, who lived about the year 450, wrote a homily upon it. It is the beginning of the eclesiastical year, and the faithful will observe the intervening time until Christmas with becoming vening time until Christmas with becoming aeriousiess and devotion.

Personal.—Col. Thomas O. Osburn, of the 30th regiment Illinois volunteers, having been recently called to Springfield, on business connected with his command, paid his many friends in this city a hasty visit. He was most heartily welcomed and warmly greeted. We were glad to see the Colonel in the enjoyment of good health after more than a year's incessant labor with his brave boys in Western Virginia. Among the many officers who have gone to the field from Chicago, Colonial Coburn stands promitinent. Leaving the practice of the law, in which he was engaged, he entered the service Some fiscen months ago, since which time he has made for himself a most enviable fame. With only about 800 effective men and a battery of two guns, he met Stonewall Jackson with a force of some 15,000 men, and kept him at bay some twenty-four hours. He then retreated across the Potomsc, and being reinforced, prevented the further advance of the enemy. At the battle of Winchester his regiment occupied a position of great danger on the left wing of the army, and the next day took the advance in the pursuit of the enemy. On this and several other occasions he conducted himself with great between ability, receiving the communications of the late lamented Gen. Lunder, and other superior officers. PERSONAL.-Col. We are gratified to learn that a project is on foot, looking to the establishment of a first class Astronomical Observatory in this city. This is a matter of extraordinary interest and This is a matter of extraordinary interest and importance to our citizens, and we sincerely trust it may not be allowed to fall through. An Achromatic Refracting Telescope of the largest proportions has recently been completed in the city of New York, in its most pleted in the city of New York, in its most essential parts, far superior in optical capacity to the celebrated selescope of Harvard University—until istely, one of the largest in the world. This it is proposed to purchase. It is needless to dwell upon the immense advantages of having such an instrument always available for observing the astronomical phenomena which are of such surpassing lu We feel assured that every citizen claim We feel assured that every citizen claiming to have ordinary intelligence, will be deeply interested in this matter, and tend this aid to further this most praiseworthy object.

By reference to our advertising columna, it will be seen that Frof. Fory of New York, by invitation of some of our most prominent citizens, delivers a locture at Bryan Hail, on Thursday evening of this week, with reference to this enterprise. His subject will be "The Siderest World."

The honor of our city is someoned.

to the enterprise. His sampet will be "The Gideresi World."

The honor of our city is concerned in this matter, and we trust our meet intelligent citizens will evince their high appreciation of it by their presence and hearty co-operation, especially as the plan proposed does not contempiate suny appeal for donations.

We present below the correspondence between Prof. For and a number of prominent citizens with reference to the lecture:

I have not one every occurring to you, our outside they have not occurred sport describes, seekly a suffice it to any that in clothing, furniture, local and everything that could confort the sick or strengthan the hands of their stimulants, we have left your liberality and learned to edinite and reveryone the sympathy and genetics and reveryone the sympathy and genetics and reveryone and the sympathy and genetics and reveryone and the programmates.

Tyler is called elsewhere, Col. Cameron he taken command of the paroled prisoners, an Col. J. H. Tucker, as heretofore, has con mand of all the Illinois forces in camp. It the opinion of many that the camp is to be entirely evacuated, but there is no doubt the as long as the war lasts, troops will be mutared there.

Surgeon of the 63th Illinois, are on duty there, and seem to have their hands full at presunt. The diseases are principally coids, levers, dysentery, &c. Rev. Mr. Tuttle (the Chaplain) usually holds religious services there every morning, and as soon as the ar-rangements are completed for hesting (now nearly finished) there will be divine service in MARINE HOSPITAL.

SUBGROWS AND CHAPLAINS.

A hospital wagon is always rendy to convey sick soldiers to and from the cars. To secure it at any time, application should be made citizer to No. 96, North Franklin street, or at the livery stable opposite the Cautral Depot. This is a great convenience, and was the donation of a few individuals to the City Mis-

DR. JAKER.—The New Orleans and Southern papers and uncilical faculty generally speak of Dr. James, formerly of James, Hospital, No. 83 Custom Bouse street, New Orleans, La, established in 1850, in the highest terms. Dr. James has been practicing in New Orleans for the last filtern years, and comes here so strongly recommended that we advase those requiring his services to apply to him immediately for relief. The Dector is assisnife physician and as honoxable man. Dr. James has and comes here so strongly recommended that we advise those requiring his services to apply to him immediately for relief. The Doctor is a scientistic physician and as honorable man. Dr. James has permanently located as office at No. 68 Randolph street, between blate and Dourbors streets. Read the following from the New Octons Dalles:

"Courrexum Buccass.—The continued success of Dr. James is withpared throughout the city, and physicians are beginning to be alarmed for a certain interative portion of their builtness, which is deserting them and drifting into the channed which empires at No. 60 Custom. House (old number), the headquarters of Dr. James.

"It has been the case since the world begun that true merit scener or later meets its just reward, and is apily film-traied in the case of this physician, who, sfer laboring industriously and studiously for years to perfect himself thoroughly in a special branch of medicine, is about reaping the benefits at the hands of his sharp sational, who, after laboring industriously and studiously for years to perfect himself thoroughly in a special branch of medicine, is about reaping the benefits at the hands of his sharp sational, who, after laboring none part of the property of the state of his sharp sational, who are, as it were, cured by his magical hand."—New Jordans Delta, March 13, 1809.

Dr. James cures disease of the skin, blood, organic weakness, impronce, and disease potestiat to both scures. Remember Dr. James of Beacher at Handolph street, haven States on Beacher at Mandolph street, haven States on Beacher at Beacher and Beacher.
